

Fountain Drinks postmix efficiency meets the demands of 2 new busy venues in Christchurch.

Two very different venues have recently opened in Christchurch. Allen Street Rock Club and Jagger & Co in Kaiapoi.

Allen Street Rock Club is a purpose-built music venue near the hospitality hub of High Street and Sol Square in the city centre. The venue has been opened since December and was a rebirth from the earthquake aftermath taking a year to create from scratch.

“We used salvaged materials, junk and rubbish from the damaged city, so it has the soul of the city at its core. Previously it was a motorcycle shop which we gutted and totally refurbished,” says co-owner/manager Tarquyn Read.

The main bar is huge with private booths and features a 13 metre long bar top. This is a busy busy place and when the music is up, the people are in, (it can accommodate 496 people) and the place is really buzzing the bar copes well with 5 Fountain Drinks postmix guns working overtime.

“Fountain conveniently provides energy drink straight from the gun,” says Tarquyn, “Energy is very popular with our young customers, and having it on the gun means there is absolutely no waste and makes for faster turn around and efficiency over the bar.”

The very different Jagger & Co was recreated out of an old local pub. Totally refurbished into a family oriented dining and entertainment venue with a gastro pub atmosphere and activities for the children. It was renamed Jagger & Co after Henry Jagger who opened the first brewery in Kaiapoi in 1862.

Co-owner Kevin Johnson has a longstanding relationship with Fountain Drinks and had no hesitation in installing 2 Fountain postmix guns.

“Fountain’s support is second to none. The equipment installation by local Fountain installer, Peter Findlayson, was easy and efficient. I have known and worked with Peter previously and can recommend him,” said Kevin.

“Fountain have always been very cost competitive and provide high quality new equipment which is reliable and state of the art. Syrup re-ordering is just a phone call away. We can place an order any time, any day, no set days. The Fountain service is easy and hassle-free.”
